Well Known Pastor To Visit Russia During The Summer

Rev. James Gordon Gilkey, well known in Northfield and pastor of South Congregational church of Springfield, Mass., has accepted the invitation to be one of the members of a party of 12 college presidents and religious leaders which will visit Soviet Russia this summer under the leadership of Sherwood Eddy, who has been, for the past 12 years in charge of the American seminar in its annual study pilgrimage to Europe and Asia.

Dr. Gilkey accompanied the American seminar in 1931 and with Mrs. Gilkey led the Italian section of the group into Italy, while the remainder proceeded to Russia and Manchuria. This year Mrs. Gilkey and their daughter will be included in the party, but will remain in eastern Europe while Dr. Gilkey will continue on into Russia with the main body.

Dr. Gilkey's ability as a lecturer and his knowledge of foreign affairs and governments gained on previous expeditions was a prime consideration in his selection as a member of this year's seminar to the land of the Soviet.

It is not anticipated that the group will encounter any difficulty in entering the country.

Regarded neither as friend nor foe by the Soviet government, it is permitted to observe and comment even though Mr. Eddy has repeatedly publicly condemned the Soviet plan as a "tyrannical dictatorship."

Vermont Peoples Bank Opens Unrestricted

The Vermont People's National bank of Brattleboro reopened Tuesday afternoon on an unrestricted basis. The bank has met the requirements of the federal authorities by authorizing an increase in its capital and by selling $300,000 in preferred stock. Not only was the stock fully subscribed but the full amount of the issue has been paid in. The bank has been doing business on a restricted basis since the bank holiday, while its officers and directors have worked hard to raise the additional capital. The opening of this bank means much to mercantile and manufacturing concerns, which have been seriously inconvenienced by the restricted banking facilities.

Local Clubs Active In Coming Program

A early announcement is made that the Thrifty Canners Club and the Speedway Sewing Club will give a joint program in Grange Hall on the evening of Friday, April 21 in which other 4-H clubs are invited to participate. At seven o'clock the Thrifty Canners will hold a food sale for which contributions are requested from the homes. All kinds of food will be sold especially nut bread. Mr. Paul Alger, County Club agent, will be present and will speak on "Music Appreciation." Members of the clubs will render vocal solos and readings. The collection to be taken will be used toward paying the expense of a vacation at the Extension Service Camp at Cata-mountain near Colrain.

Vernon-Brattleboro Road To Be Improved

Just as soon as the weather permits the road from South Vernon to Brattleboro is to be improved. It is badly rutted and muddy and motorists have been complaining about its condition for some time. The town authorities say that the road will be scraped and improved at the earliest possible date. From Brattleboro to the town of Vernon lie a hard surface road will be constructed this season.

Much use of this road is made by Northfield folks during the summer who especially visit Brattleboro making the trip northward via Hindale and returning on the west side.

The "Hermon Yell" Given In Africa By Former Student

Lacking somewhat in the old Hermon snap, a school of African children in the bush of Chikore, East Africa, learned to give the Mount Hermon yell under Rev. Frederick R. Dixon of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, who was inspecting the schools throughout that area. The children, he reports, had never been taught school yell, and were delighted with it.

A cobra spit viciously at Mr. Dixon's cook boy Tom, who accompanied him. It was finally killed, and found to measure three feet. Arriving at a village called "Honde," Dixon and Tom found that the night previous lions had killed a cow in the chief's kraal. The alarm had been sounded, and band of men standing with torches had protected the remainder of the herd during the night.

Along with his school inspection duties, Dixon, who is himself a Mount Hermon boy, talks simply to the village people about Christianity, plays his violins, records, and joins with the young folks in their games, sometimes played under a full moon.

Just what it means to travel by auto through this virgin territory is graphically described by Dixon.

"Off to Chikwakwara... the road had not been made, and the wash was high. Just before the school, there is a dry river bed to be crossed, a deep gully with steep sides. This had been recently hoed, and the soil was dry and pulverous. One chain continually dug holes into this soil as we made our way a foot at a time up the slope, which had an angle like the roof of the House of Seven Gables. Men pushed, and when we came to a stand, blocked the wheels with small tree trunks. Thus we gained a foot at a time."

On one occasion "Old Bones," the affectionate name given his car, was forced to stand for a considerable period rearmed up on its hind legs like a bucking bronco. Naturally the gasoline leaked out, as no self-respecting car is expected to stay in this position long. Finally, the top of the hill was reached after over four hours of work.

Humorous and tragic glimpses of native African life are given by Dixon. In one village a mother started to run toward the car. A small boy, weeping copiously, clung to her hand to hold her back. He could not see her face—but she was smiling. It seems that her small son had been disobedient and she had threatened to throw herself before the car as punishment.

In another village they saw nine men and one woman pass the camp, and found that six of the men were accusing the woman of witchcraft. The other three men were relatives, among them her husband. All the men had clay on their foreheads, a sign they were going to the witchdoctor.

"The woman had a cloth tied on her head," says Dixon. "When I asked why she was thus distinguishing herself from the others, the men answered that they had told her to tie on that cloth so the witchdoctor could see themselves that she was a witch. The woman said, 'I know nothing about witchcraft. They accuse me because they hate me!'

Dixon found that the witchdoctor will collect a generous fee and will, of course, accuse the woman, as she is the one they wish accused. He will torture her in various ways until she "talks." After that she will be beaten by the witchdoctor until her relatives pay a ransom for him to desist. Then she must give up a daughter to be sold into the slavery of an African marriage.

"Every time anyone dies in African heathen society, there is a witchcraft trial," adds Dixon, "and those men really believed that this woman killed their dead relative by the use of witchcraft. Every time there is a death the bereaved honestly think some neighbor has used witchcraft. Can you imagine the welter of suspicion and fear and hate that undermines such a society?"

The little violins has caused a great deal of speechless wonder. It to them, is a magic box. They think there are many people inside of it. Indeed, it is a form of white man's witchcraft! They sometimes believe that the voices come from the other world.

Dixon looks on South Glastonbury, Conn., as his home-town. He is supported in his work by the Congregational churches of Glastonbury, Manchester (Second) and New Milford, Conn., and of Pittsfield, (First) and Watertown (Phelps) and five other churches in the Mendon Association, Mass.

Mr. Dixon (Madeline Halford) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Halford of 7 Burbank St., Pittsfield, Mass.

Mother Dies

Mrs. John Callaghan of Northfield is one of three daughters bereaved in the death of her mother, Mrs. Jane R. Dunnell of Shelburne Falls who died Wednesday, March 29th. Mrs. Dunnell was 72 years of age and had been in poor health for several years. She was a native of Whitingham, Vt., and had lived in this section for 58 years. She married Fred D. Dunnell, who died several years ago.

Beside Mrs. Callaghan she leaves two other daughters and three sons. The funeral was held last Friday and burial was in the Amherst cemetery.

Imperial Russian Violinist Here Next Sunday At Congo Church

Alexander Kaminsky the Imperial Russian Violinist and his daughter, Miss Anna Kaminsky, second violin on the piano will both appear in a recital of sacred and classical music at the Trinitarian Church Sunday afternoon, April 9th at three o'clock. Admission is free but an offering will be taken.

This program is under the auspies of the New England Fellowship, an incorporated evangelical organization formed to promote Christian unity and spiritual revival.

Mr. Kaminsky will tell the story of his life and of his conversion from Atheism. This consecrated artist preaches sermons on the violin which touch the heart.

He will play a Guarnerius 300 years old, presented to him in Russian by Graf Galicic, and also on a Gasparini made especially for him by the famous violin maker, Alfred Gasparini, of Chicago.

This is a real opportunity to hear a gifted musician and one which the people of Northfield will readily appreciate. The church Sunday afternoon, weather permitting, will probably be filled with a capacity audience.

Mr. Kaminsky plays three classes of music: the Hebrews sacred, the classic and the great inspired hymns of the Christian church. Since this recital is being given on Sunday, he will use the first and last groups particularly. The story of the great sorrow, the great loneliness of the Hebrews, still seeking for his Messiah, Mr. Kaminsky tells in pathos, only possible through the medium of music.

Then he portrays the great happiness which comes when Jesus of Nazareth is accepted as Messiah. He himself has tasted both experiences.

Born an orthodox Jew, of parents who wished him to become a rabbi, he was early instructed in the fundamentals of the law of Moses. His violin was only for his own amusement. But his gift was recognized, and he was sent to the Imperial School of Music, thence to the Petrograd Conservatory of Music, and finally under appointment of the government to the Imperial Grand Theatre at Moscow. Here he became a favorite in the court of Czar Nicholas II, where his soulful music won unusual recognition.

"The woman had a cloth tied on her head," says Dixon. "When I asked why she was thus distinguishing herself from the others, the men answered that they had told her to tie on that cloth so the witchdoctor could see themselves that she was a witch. The woman said, 'I know nothing about witchcraft. They accuse me because they hate me!'

Dixon found that the witchdoctor will collect a generous fee and will, of course, accuse the woman, as she is the one they wish accused. He will torture her in various ways until she "talks." After that she will be beaten by the witchdoctor until her relatives pay a ransom for him to desist. Then she must give up a daughter to be sold into the slavery of an African marriage.

"Every time anyone dies in African heathen society, there is a witchcraft trial," adds Dixon, "and those men really believed that this woman killed their dead relative by the use of witchcraft. Every time there is a death the bereaved honestly think some neighbor has used witchcraft. Can you imagine the welter of suspicion and fear and hate that undermines such a society?"

The little violins has caused a great deal of speechless wonder. It to them, is a magic box. They think there are many people inside of it. Indeed, it is a form of white man's witchcraft! They sometimes believe that the voices come from the other world.

Auto Accidents Frequent During The Past Week

Last Saturday morning about eleven o'clock a large number of cars had gathered about the town hall as its owners transacted their usual bank business or called for mail at the post office. There was a seeming congestion and one of the cars driven by an East Northfield woman attempted to make a turn on the highway as a car approached suddenly from the northward. Both cars the travelling slowly came into contact with each other and one of the cars driven by a New York party plowed into the soft mud in front of the residence of Mrs. Keet. Both cars were slightly damaged but proceeded on under their own power. No one was injured.

Last Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pearson of Winchester Road with their daughters Dorothy and Mildred started out in their car for a motor trip to Worcester and to attend services at Tremont Temple where their son is the organist. They were proceeding along the Farms road toward Millers Falls when two dogs ran out into the road near the Strom home and in attempting to avoid hitting them the wheels struck the soft shoulder and the car sank into the mud and toppled over on its side. Mr. Pearson and Dorothy managed to extricate themselves through the door on the upper side. Then with the assistance of Mr. Strom and other neighbors Mrs. Pearson and Miss Mildred were removed from the back seat. The car was righted and the family drove back to their home where they received medical attention for scratches and bruises. The car was slightly damaged in the tip over.

On the Northfield Farms road near Millers Falls last Sunday afternoon a car containing two young ladies on their way to Gardner left the hard surface of the road and plowed into the soft dirt, tearing down four cement posts and went down over the bank. A garage wrecking car brought the auto back to the road only slightly damaged.

"Evidently McFlurt had a good time at Hill House on the Lake. He said he was struck by the beauty of the place."

"He was struck all right by a gorgeous blonde."

The Northfield National Bank warns the public to be careful about changing $5 bills for strangers. Two counterfeit bills of that denomination were detected at Greenfield at the First National Bank and Trust Co. The bills were reserve notes on a New York bank bearing the picture of President Lincoln. The notes were not especially well executed, but could not easily be detected by anyone unused to handling money.

Beer Is Rapped At W.C.T.U. Meet Town Represented

"Beer" and not a drop to drink was the chief subject of discussions at a regional institute of the Massachusetts W.C.T.U. at the Methodist church in Greenfield last Tuesday. Mrs. Lila D. Warren, state vice-president at large described the present situation as one in which the country is jumping "from the frying pan into the fire." Rev. W. J. McCullough, pastor of the Baptist church, assailed the press and magazines as responsible for the swing of public opinion away from support of prohibition and deplored the lack of enthusiastic leadership in the churches. Rev. Verne Leanne Smith, minister of the Methodist church, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Minnie Graves, president of the Greenfield union, presided. Mrs. Ida Grant, president of the Bernardston union, led a devotional service, while Rev. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Minnie Morgan, president of the town W.C.T.U., extended official welcome to the delegates. Mrs. Graves conducted a question period and Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Blackmer of Montague presented a playlet, "New Laws for Old."

Luncheon-hour speakers included Superintendent of Schools, F. W. Porter; Miss Anna Koch, director of the Visiting Nurse association; Miss Adelais Hood, agent of the S. P. C. C.; Rev. Charles F. Boehmer of St. Paul's church; Rev. George K. Carter of the First Congregational and Rev. W. J. McCullough of the Baptist.

Luncheon was served by the Home Missionary society. Those who participated in the afternoon program included Rev. Mr. Smith, Rev. Mr. Elizabeth Snow and Miss Mary Foster, who presented a playlet, "Literature and Our Parents," and Miss Ellen Weatherhead, soprano.

To my knowledge said Mrs. Warren in her morning talk, "The transition from license to prohibition was not a dangerous period but a utopian change demanded by a rum-sickened nation. This beer legislation is really an entering wedge, a step toward the complete repeal of the 18th Amendment.

"To hear some people talk and to read the papers and magazines one would think that 3.2 per cent beer is the panacea for all our ill, local, national and international. To my knowledge said Mrs. Warren in her morning talk, "The transition from license to prohibition was not a dangerous period but a utopian change demanded by a rum-sickened nation. This beer legislation is really an entering wedge, a step toward the complete repeal of the 18th Amendment.

The great patience and courtesy of Mrs. Montague, Mr. Robbins and Miss Sheldon in answering questions was remarked upon and appreciated. The value of the "question box" method of acquiring information was demonstrated satisfactorily, and it is hoped that it may find a similar place of each year's program.

The lovely soprano voice of Miss Ruth Robinson was heard in three well-chosen selections most ably accompanied by Miss Lawrence. We hope to hear much more of the singing of this talented young teacher.

The early part of the program was devoted to a business meeting, at which a letter from Mr. Alger was read, thanking the association for the gift of $8,80. raised by the recent food sale for the 4-H camp. The subject of a dental clinic, of which there is a great need, was discussed, and a committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of renting a traveling dental clinic such as is used to advantage in Hampshire county. Those on the committee are: Mrs. Clifford Bolton, chairman; Mrs. Lillie and Mrs. Donald Williams.

EDITORIAL

It is an interesting fact that, in the depressions of the past, the United States has been led out of them by unusual expansion of some major industry. This was true, for example, in the case of the automobile industry in the depression that followed the war. Car sales zoomed and related industries, which in the long run provided more employment than did the automobile industry itself, grew up.

The electric industry is in a more or less similar position today, even though it has expanded amazingly in the past. The well lighted home is still the exception and not the rule. Industry is, to an increasing extent, turning to electric power and away from other forms of mechanical power. Better and cheaper electric labor-saving devices are appearing on the market—and, aside from such commonplace appliances as electric percolators, toasters and vacuum cleaners, the average home has none of them. It is not conceivable that ten years from now the domestic market for electricity will be ten times as great as at present.

As depression lifts, more and more money goes into such articles as these labor-saving devices. Every time one is sold, whether by the utility or a dealer, the market for power is broadened, and a potential demand for repairs, parts and service is created. Money is put into circulation—men go to work. In conquering depression the electric industry will be in the front rank.

Christendom, at Easter, will resound with the resurrection message of the angel to Mary Magdalene. For more than 1,900 years the resurrection has been the key-note of Christianity. Preachers of faith in Christ as the hope of humanity have from the days of the Apostles based their messages upon this foundation, and without the resurrection have regarded preaching as vain.

Poet's Corner

A PRAYER FOR COURAGE

God, make me brave for life,

Oh, braver than that!

Let me straighten after pain

As a tree strengthens after the rain

Shining and lovely again.

God, make me brave for life,

Much braver than that!

As the blown grass lifts let me rise

From sorrow with quiet eyes,

Knowing Thy way is wise.

God, make me brave. Life brings

Such blinding things.

Help me to keep my sight,

That out of the dark comes light.

A WONDERFUL MOTHER

God made a wonderful mother, A mother who never grows old;

He made her smile of the sunshine,

And He molded her heart of pure gold;

In her eyes He placed bright shining stars,

In her cheeks, fair roses you see;

God made a wonderful mother,

And He gave that dear mother to me.

A considerable decrease in consumption of gasoline during February of this year in Massachusetts compared to the same month a year ago is reported by Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxation. During February of this year 30,463,422 gallons were used on which a tax of $913,902 was collected compared with 35,593,746 gallons yielding $1,067,812 in February, 1932.

Here's a case where bad news may be good news. Retail prices in cost of food in New England decreased 18% percent during the year which ended February 15. This decrease causes little joy to the farmer or producer of food-stuffs but it has been a help to others who have found the situation tough. For communities which have had their welfare troubles, it has also been a break.

Taxpayers' Association Is Formed; Officers And Directors Chosen

Vermont Senator Speaks For Town Efficiency

The Northfield Taxpayers association which has been talked of considerably is now a reality and at its second meeting of the year held last Monday evening in Town Hall its By-Laws were presented by its organization Committee and unanimously adopted. The By-Laws declare that the association stands for the enlightenment of its members of town, state and national governmental matters, for the study of economics and the securing of efficiency in administrative affairs and for co-operation with other similar associations.

A special committee brought in the nominations for permanent officers and upon motion they were unanimously elected. The officers and directors are as follows: President Ralph O. Leach; Vice-presidents, Samuel E. Walker, Frank W. Kellogg, William F. Hoehn; Secretary-Treasurer, Carl Mason; Directors, Harry Gingras, Fred H. Doolittle, Ross L. Spencer; Merrion Fisher, Ralph Holton, Fred A. Davis, Fred Irish.

Department Committees will be named later for the study of special matters.

After the organization matters were disposed of, President Leach called Mr. Hoehn to the chair who announced that Mr. Howard Rice of the Brattleboro Reformer was prevented from attending but had promised to come later in the season. He introduced Senator O. R. Hughes of Vermont a resident of Brattleboro who spoke on "Economic Conditions in Vermont and its lessons for the future." Careful attention was paid to his remarks as he interpreted the extravagances of towns and cities and the plight in which many communities found themselves. He applauded the taxpayers' movement as one in which all citizens could unite in a study of local conditions and exert their influence for a sound conservative and safe administration of town affairs. He urged that the spirit of co-operation and understanding be manifested toward elective town officials in order that they may become responsive to the responsibilities vested in them. To Northfield he expressed his congratulations upon the effort of its citizens to secure a greater sense of more perfect political ideals. Mr. C. L. Stickney, Vice-President of the Vermont Peoples National Bank who accompanied Senator Hughes was also called upon for a few words and gave some good advice and suggestions in the work of the association. The next meeting of the Taxpayers' Association will be held the second Monday in May.

Northfield Will Lose In Division Gas Tax As Now Contemplated

Most of the smaller towns in Franklin County will lose quite a little in the returns of the state gasoline tax in a distribution now proposed. Last year about $5,600,000 was distributed, based on town-road mileage and valuation. This year the distribution proposed is $10,000,000 but without the mileage provision.

It is hoped that the legislature will consider the matter further so that a fairer distribution may be made to the small towns.

Figures prepared here show that many of the smaller towns of the county would receive substantially smaller amounts under the present contemplated plan than was received last year. Here are the figures.

Akron And Blimp Survivors Known Here

In the Akron dirigible disaster the public here as everywhere else became very much interested and eager to learn all the possible news of the happening. Among the three survivors of the Akron was Richard Deal. He is a nephew of Mrs. Fred S. Moore of our neighboring town of Grafton, Vt. who for years brought him up. After the report of the Akron disaster among the air fleet to respond was the Navy's blimp J-3 and seven men among them Harley E. Manley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Manley of Brattleboro. To Visit Northfield Friday

A complete modern kitchen in which the gas, electricity, performs every conceivable task of the American housewife and which is arranged scientifically to eliminate all ordinary drudgery, is carried in this unusual kitchen on wheels. The coach is one of a fleet of 100 which will be in use soon by General Electric distributors in all parts of the nation.

In this "magic" all-electric kitchen, dishes are washed and dried by simply pushing a button. A similar operation refrigerates food, manufactures ice, cooks food, turns a range on or off, mixes beverages and foods, provides music, prepares toast, waffles, or coffee, gives shadowless illumination and ventilates the kitchen. The coach also has space for the exhibition of other electric home work-savers, such as laundry equipment, sun lamps, vacuum cleaners, radios, electric clock, heater, and kindred products.

The model kitchen will stop and exhibit in front of the Town Hall Friday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock, a special stop at two-thirty o'clock at Alexander Hall and at three o'clock at the Bookstore Building, East Northfield. All are invited.

The residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Organic on the Jillson Road near the Vermont State Fish Hatcheries was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning. The place is known as the old Newton homestead and consisted of the house and ell, garage with barn and tobacco shed nearby. It is not known how the fire started but the family were awakened about three o'clock by a crackling noise and smoke completely filled the room. Beside Mr. and Mrs. Organic there were six children and all had to make their exit by jumping from the windows clad in their night clothes. Helen, daughter, age 16, was badly burned in attempting the work of rescue and was taken to Brattleboro Memorial Hospital for treatment.

There was no telephone in the house and the flames made such rapid headway that the family was unable to save any of its belongings. A barn and a large tobacco shed, which were located at some distance from the house, were the only buildings saved.

The family were given shelter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Underwood. The property is owned by Dr. L. L. Clark of Greenfield.

Parsons Honored In Published Book

A new book has just made its appearance upon "Probation and Criminal Justice" edited by Sheldon Glueck, professor of criminology at the Harvard Law School and consisting of essays written in honor of Herbert C. Parsons of Boston by specialists in the field of probation who are eager to recognize in tangible and permanent form the great contributions rendered to the work by Mr. Parsons.

Those who have read the book say that it has been carefully edited and that its contents are divided into five parts: the significant and legal background of probation, the organization and administration of probation, the granting of probation, the art of probation and the growth and extent of probation.

The many friends of Mr. Parsons in Northfield hope that a copy may reach the Public Library for placement in the hands of those interested.

Must Have Insurance After Thirty Days

An important announcement is made that every non-resident motorist remaining in Massachusetts for a period of more than thirty days must secure a permit to operate beyond such a period. This permit is issued without cost provided the owner is the holder of a policy of liability insurance substantially the same as that required by the State Compulsory Insurance Law. This information is very essential to those who come to Northfield for the summer stay and should be obeyed by all. It is said that several cars have been operated upon our highways for some time bearing other state registrations. Such owners should be sure that the arrangement is reciprocal between their state and Massachusetts and that they are carrying the necessary insurance.

Road Conditions

The Department of Public Works has sent out the first road map and detour bulletin for 1933 thus week and it contains much valuable information for tourists in Western Massachusetts the highway between Lenox and Pittsfield will undergo repairs and reconstruction. The road is open but under police control. The road from Pittsfield to the state line enroute to Albany is also under reconstruction and subject to police control. Between Granby and Belchertown the road is being reconstructed for a short distance and between Barre and Rutland also for a short distance both under police control. Route two Boston to Williamsburg was open unobstructed as well as the Connecticut River Highways, Vermont to Connecticut state line.

Mrs. Ambert G. Moody of East Northfield was re-elected president at the annual meeting of the Franklin County district, Department of Woman's Work of the Massachusetts Congregational conference held last Tuesday at the Second Congregational Church in Greenfield with a large attendance representing all the churches in the County.

Other officers elected follow: Mrs. A. P. Pratt, Greenfield, vice-president; Mrs. A. L. Truesdell, Bernardston, recording secretary; Mrs. F. W. Wells, Greenfield, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. Colton, East Northfield, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Lamb May, Deerfield, educational secretary; Mrs. Grove Deming, Mount Hermon, young people's work; Mrs. C. G. White, Millers Falls, children's work; Mrs. Ray Allen, Turners Falls, handwork; Mrs. H. G. Vincent, Deerfield, literature. The nominating committee comprised Miss Abbie C. Billings of Orange, Mrs. H. G. Vincent of Deerfield and Mrs. Clara Gaylord of Turners Falls.

The program was carried out as stated in our last issue and was most interesting and instructive.

Two addresses were heard at the afternoon session. Dr. Caroline F. Hamilton of the Near East mission spoke on "Closed Doors and Open Doors in Turkey," and Mrs. Hannah Hume Calder of West Springfield, a former missionary, was heard in a talk on "New Frontiers for Service." Dr. Hartman was graduated from Smith College in 1885 and has been in Turkey since 1892. Mrs. Calder is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hume, noted missionaries in India, and is a graduate of Wellesley, 1900. She formerly taught in Northfield seminary and was in mission work in India for some years. It was decided that the county rally shall be held at Northfield on July 12th.

Mr. George Leask, well known New York financier, banker and philanthropist, and the senior member of the banking firm of George Leask and company, which he founded died suddenly from pneumonia on Sunday, April 2nd at the age of 84 years at home there. His will offered for probate provides a gift of $25,000 to the Northfield Schools, which will be paid at the expiration of a certain life estate. Much of Mr. Leask's life was devoted to charitable enterprises and he was long prominent in the Baptist church. His wife, the former Miss May Perkins of Irvington, N. Y., died some years ago.

Mr. Russell Roberts and son, Russell, Jr., of Winchester Road are visiting her mother and family Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith in Norwalk, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newton spent the week end in Keene, N. H., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howard.

Mrs. Robert Bennett of Allston, Mass., is spending two weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Davis on Ashuelot Road.

Mr. Ross Spencer is making extensive repairs and improvements to the house recently purchased by him on Main Street.

Improvements and reconstruction are proceeding rapidly upon the old Academy Building bought by Rev. George Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Minor have moved into the Chamberlin house recently vacated by the Stearns.

The reflection and flames of a large fire were plainly seen from East Northfield this Thursday evening about nine o'clock. It seemed to be in the direction of Spofford.

Mrs. Clifford Field was one of the speakers at the Baptist Convention in Amherst last week. She spoke of her experiences while a missionary among the Indians.

Training Courses For Life Saving Arranged Here By Co. Red Cross

The Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross has arranged Examiner's training courses in Red Cross Life Saving for Northfield Seminary and Mount Hermon School, April 17th to 22nd. The instruction will be given by Commander Wilbert E. Longfellow, Assistant National Director of First Aid and Life Saving for the American National Red Cross.

Commodore Longfellow has played a conspicuous part in promoting and developing this work in the United States for the past thirty years. It was in February 1914 that he became a field representative of the First Aid Service of the Red Cross to promote water first aid—life saving, and his work has carried him into an average of twenty states a year since that time—addressing more than 100,000 people a year.

He has studied first aid problems all over the United States and has participated in the training of more than 350 such departments, along emergency aid lines. During the World War, by permission of the Red Cross, he was able to offer to army and navy training camps a collection of methods of transportation of the injured which were gladly accepted by the camp commanders and incorporated into the training of more than 120,000 soldiers and sailors and marines during 1917 and 1918 before they went overseas, and an equal number of civilians were reached in the same period.

At the request of the Secretary of War, Commodore Longfellow continued his status as a Red Cross agent and was able to work with both services in more than twenty cantonments and training camps, frequently instructing 1,200 men at one time in hollow square formation. Feeling that most first aid has to be done without prepared material, the Commodore has developed and collected many first aid methods that can be done with the clothing and equipment of the injured person including ninety uses of the Scout kerchief and thirty emergency uses of an army blanket, ranging from dressing a

Organized Baseball To Be Played Here During The Summer

The annual meeting of the Northfield Athletic Association was held at the Mountain View Hotel last Monday evening with an enthusiasm indicated by its membership that will lead to placing in the field a winning baseball team for this coming summer. The business of the association was considered and the election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Lawrence M. Laselle; Vice President, Harlan F. Atwood; Secretary and Treasurer, Arthur P. Lawrence; Baseball Manager, Dean W. Williams. An advisory board consisting of Philip Porter, L. A. Polhemus and R. E. Shearer was also elected.

The officers are the same as last year except that Mr. Frank W. Williams who declined the position of Treasurer was succeeded by Mr. Lawrence.

It was decided to purchase new uniforms for the players and the contract was awarded to the Maynard Co. of Plymouth, N. H. After the business session a social hour with cards followed. The players of the team will soon be selected and a lineup announced in the columns of The Herald. The officers of the association trust the citizens of Northfield will give the baseball team their full support this summer as in the past and that they will attend the games as announced to be played on the grounds of the Northfield Hotel.

Birds In Music

The Fortnightly Club will hold its regular scheduled meeting this Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Alexander Hall. Aside from the regular business session there will be an address on "Birds in Music and Poetry" by Rev. Arthur E. Wilson and Mrs. Lucille Wheeler of Grafton, Mass. A large attendance of members is expected to listen to this most interesting presentation.

Have You Any Gold?

The effort is continued to have gold and gold certificates returned to the Federal Reserve Banks by holders thereof. If you have any in your possession retained as currency better get it to your bank and exchange it for money legitimately in current use. Persons who are retaining a few gold coins for sentimental purposes, such as keepsakes are not considered hoarding. However virtually all persons holding more than $100 in gold or gold certificates were directed by the President last week to turn their supply over to the Federal Reserve system or face a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine or 10 years' imprisonment, or both.

The "dead line" has been established as of May first. Nearly $500 of gold and gold certificates had already been forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank from Northfield through the Northfield National Bank.

EDITORIAL

Many signs point to a rise in security prices in the near future. The constructive measures taken by the present administration, which are too well known to enumerate, have inspired the public with confidence.

The country has suffered a severe loss in the destruction of the dirigible Akron and public sympathy has been shown everywhere to the families of the men who died in the line of duty. As President Roosevelt said: "Ships can be replaced, but the nation can ill afford to lose such men as Rear Admiral Moffett and his shipmates, who died with him upholding to the end the finest traditions of the United States Navy."

Whatever the cause for the disaster may have been or wherever the responsibility may be placed matters little. Perhaps the lesson to be learned is that man has not yet conquered the natural elements and that America might be just as well off without its dirigibles and the consequent extravagance of public funds. No one has yet proven that these costly "ships of the air" are a necessity to human welfare and happiness.

There is much sentiment in Northfield as elsewhere against the moving picture industry because of the character of many of the films produced, and many who have enjoyed patronizing the "movie" theatres now refrain to do so. No criticism is made of the theatre managers who are forced to accept productions by the controlling agencies. Mr. H. W. Foote, in the Christian Register puts the case plainly in behalf of the public when he says:

"The current report that the moving picture industry is as bankrupt financially as it is morally should cause no regrets. It has dug its own grave. In its bankruptcy lies the hope of better things, that the industry may pass into clean and reputable hands which will cease to advertise this country as a land of violence, cunning greed and lust, and will make the moving picture a vehicle for great drama and wholesome education. But it will take years of such leadership to undo the harm already done and future historians will find in the annals of the recent past abundant material to justify Dr. Feudick's description of the period through which we have just passed as 'the dirty decade.'"

Irrespective of the merits of the various farm relief measures now being considered, farmers should not be led into the belief that their problems can be settled entirely by legislative action.

The government can perhaps ease some of the worst effects of the depression. It may aid our agriculture over a crisis. But, in the long run, the farmers themselves will decide whether agriculture is to prosper or to continue in the doldrums—whether it is to advance or go back.

AN EASTER MESSAGE

I am a little bird of spring,
My wings are light and blue,
I come with hope and cheer to sing
The message sent to you:
A message from the heavens above
That's fragrant with the Saviour's love—
I am the Resurrection—the future life divine;
Though birds take wing with winter's sting,
They'll come with summer's shining.

I am a little blossom sweet,
And e'en before the May,
I'm sprouting up beneath your feet,
List! this is what I say:
A message from the heavens above
That's fragrant with the Saviour's love;
I am the Resurrection—the glory life divine;
Though flowers seem lost by winter's frost,
They'll bloom with summer's shining.

Then when you feel the winter's cold
Remember also spring;
And when the grave your eyes behold,
Then Easter music sing;
A message from the heavens above
That's fragrant with the Saviour's love;
I am the Resurrection, the endless life consigning,
And all who sleep in earth or deep,
Shall rise some Easter's shining.

RESURRECTION

All nature feels the quickening power of Spring,
The drab earth blossoms now with living green,
Leaf and flower burst from close wrapped seals,
Clothing hill and field with tender sheen.

Yet human beings walk accustomed ways,
Thinking of their crops and lesser things,
How soon to plant or when to clean the house,
And do not feel the rush of hidden wings.

Arouse us, Lord, from dull and futile cares,
Each year this sign of Resurrection sends
In flowering bud and blue birds' carolling,
Assurance that this life is not the end.

Coming To The "Vic"

Manager Louis Rosenzweig has succeeded in making contracts for the showing of the following noted photo-plays, in the near future. Beginning with Easter Sunday, Laurel & Hardy will be seen in the splendid comedy drama "Pack Up Your Troubles," in conjunction with a number of other pictures, making a program suitable for the entire family. On Patriots' Day, Wednesday, April 19, the noted star of the stage, radio, and the screen, Ed Wynn, known as the "Texaco Fire Chief," will be seen in "Follow the Leader," on the same bill, "Reform Girl." Other noted pictures to be seen very soon at the VICTORIA will be "Strange Intruder," with Norma Shearer, and Clark Gable, "Oliver Twist," the immortal Chas. Dickens tale, with Dickie Moore as the poor orphan waif, "Secrets of Madam Blanche," with Irene Dunne, "Clear All The Wires," with Lee Tracy, also the screen's two stars of the day Helen Hayes and Clark Gable will be seen in "White Sister." The astounding picture "Gabriel Over The White House," with Walter Huston, and the sensational drama "Rasputin and the Empress," with the three Barrymores, John, Ethel, and Lionel, together for the first time on the screen, during their respective careers. Be sure to watch for these attractions at "THE VIC."

Check Your Car

Motorists have until May 1 in which to have their motor vehicles inspected under the law making it compulsory for a checkup. This will allow all those who have not registered their cars so they might save the first three months' cost of insurance and excise taxes to get their vehicles checked.

Throughout the state there are many places where it will be possible to have mechanics test brakes, lights and other equipment. Then stickers will be handed out to owners whose cars are found efficient, and those who have adjustments made to meet the law.

Northfield garages are prepared to make these "check ups" immediately.

Trinitarian Church

Palm Sunday brought out an unusually large audience at the Trinitarian church last Sunday morning. Pastor Carne's sermon was on Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. In his talk to the juniors he stressed the part the children had in it and in all Christian thought and practice ever since.

The choir of 25 voices sang two anthems, "Hosanna in the Highest" and "Ride On In Majesty," in which solo parts were taken by Mrs. Harry Foley, Mrs. Mildred Addison and Dr. Allen H. Wright.

Next Sunday is Easter Day. The church will have an appropriate display of potted plants and cut flowers, which friends are asked to leave at the church not later than 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The choir will sing two Easter carols at the morning service.

In the evening at 8 o'clock the choir will give another service of sacred song. A number of Easter anthems and part songs will be rendered. There will also be other special music. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

South Church

The Easter service will be a happy service no matter what the weather may be. The older classes of the church school will join in the church worship at 10:45 o'clock.

BUY YOUR G-E REFRIGERATOR at today's prices. Values will never be greater. All indications point to an increase in prices when present stocks, manufactured at unusually low costs, are exhausted. Today's price tag is important—but of more importance is what you get for it. General Electric prices start as low as $99.50 at the factory. The flat-top G-E models have all-steel cabinets, porcelain interiors, stainless steel freezing chambers and other features never before available at the low prices quoted. The T-Bar is a G-E refrigerator for every purpose—with General Electric quality and value in every model. Out of 3 electric refrigerators in use today is a G-E Monitor Top. No other refrigerator has matched its record for dependable, trouble-free performance. It provides the world's lowest-cost refrigeration service. See the new 10" G-E—more ice—faster freezing—uses less current—operates so quietly you can scarcely hear it. At $7 today will deliver a General Electric to our home tomorrow...with monthly payments as low as $7.

With every electric range sold during April we will present the purchaser with a small electrical appliance such as percolator, egg cooker, etc.
